Yes, Draper is being trimmed already in Massachusetts.

If events continue, Turkey will be about ripe for a killing on Thanksgiving day.

"We are coming, Doctor Bryan, one hundred thousand more"—chorus of Democrats.

Hardwick is raising money to erect a soldiers and sailors' memorial. Good for Hardwick! Also good for home business.

United States and Japanese fleets meet—and figuratively shake hands. That's better than wasting powder on each other.

Congressman Foster is out telling the Westerners how to vote. "Dave" will take well out there, because he is a breeze himself.

One Vermont contributor as much as one hundred silver dollars toward Bryan's election. He was H. O. Cummings. Coming some, eh?

With a man named Swift at its head, the Vermont Christian Endeavor union ought to make even more rapid strides the coming year.

They undoubtedly set $25,000 for the Champlain tercentennial celebration because they thought they would get less from the Vermont legislature.

Base ball management is fast getting to be a career, especially when managers are offered $10,000 a year for their services. Why be president of a trust?

Militant co-eds! Seven of them in Shurtleff college, Illinois, tied a male sophomore to a tree and then "tormented" him because he had said some derogatory things about co-education. Who says that co-education is a failure?

Plainfield's representative in the House occupies what generally amounts to quite an important position. The presidency of the Farmers' club carries considerable weight, and Mr. Martin is to be congratulated on his election to that position.

We farmers of Vermont are pleased to learn through Secretary Wilson that the farmers of the West are buying automobiles and investing their surplus money in the farm land of the British possessions. That gives us a cue what to do with our "surplus" money.

The Fair Haven Era says that Editor Halvosa made the Vermont Union Signal "interesting to many with socialist and anarchistic tendencies," which rather falsely portrays the strong efforts of the last editor of that publication. Its readers were not all socialists, and we doubt if any were anarchists; many readers were union men, pure and simple. Some of us in Vermont look askance at the new ideas which labor has developed and because of their newness we call them radical and revolutionary. Unionism, which The Signal espoused, is not radical in and of itself, although a radical or even revolutionary tone may be put to it if one could wish.

It seems that the schoolm'ams are very welcome in Rutland, but the schoolm'asters find it a trifle chilly. Leastwise, that is what one is led to believe by the following paragraph from the Rutland Evening News:

"Teachers of Vermont—the flower of its young womanhood—thrice welcome to Rutland! May you bloom forever. The men—what few of you there be—look out for yourselves!"

Those lines must have been penned (or typewritten) by the poetry editor of The News. The lines start as if there was an inspiration back of them and end like as if the inspiration petered out when it came to contemplation of such prosaic creatures as men. "Flower of its young womanhood." Splendid! Fine! "May you bloom forever." Still finer. And yet more grand! But—the men, "look out for yourselves." Could anything suggest more acutely this workaday world than that harsh sentence let fall from the poet's pen (or typewriter)? Certainly not. There is warm poetry and cold prose for you, the direct antipodes. O, Rutland Evening News poet, why be so "cool"?

A CHANGE IN SUPREME COURT MAKE-UP DESIRED.

If there are to be any changes in Vermont's judiciary system this fall, there most certainly ought to be a change in the numerical make-up of the supreme court. As now constituted, the court consists of four members, the even number making it possible for a deadlock, two against two. There may not be frequent occasions in which such an even decision of opinion is likely to happen; but the time may come when the judicial minds are split and at a time when the deadlock will count. It would be reasonable to add an associate judge to the list, making five and rendering deadlocks impossible. We are now going on the sup-

We've had a forewarning that for the cool weather there would be a strong demand for the new brown tans and olives for young men's suits and we selected a bunch of extreme patterns, it seems our forewarning has made us "forehanded" for we are we suiting the best dressed men in this town.

position that the minds of the highest branch of the state's judiciary will run in the same groove, which may coincide with the past conditions, but which furnishes no safe guide for the future. Let's do away with the possibility of a deadlock.

A CONTEMPORARY'S JOY.

It is easy to detect a note of joy when the Rutland Herald says, "For the first time in 40 years there is no representative of the House of Proctor in public life in Vermont." Considering that the Proctors and the Herd never would lie down together, since P. W. C. took a domineering hand in the management of the latter, the joy of the contemporary is perhaps natural enough. It is a trifle unjust, however, to gloat because the legislature has thus far not followed the advice of ex-Governor F. D. Proctor in his retiring message. The legislature has not been in session more than seven days, and has hardly organized, to say nothing of transacting business. It is too early yet for any recommendations to crystallize in the form of legislation, even though there were a man on the spot to engineer them into being. It is not a slap at Proctor or his recommendations that they have not been immediately set into the statutes. In fact, it would place Vermonters in a ridiculous light if they should without mature deliberation enact something into a law because someone told them to do so. They would be in the Proctor leading strings in dead earnest then; and that is what The Herald would have us avoid.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The Sole Survivor.

The Boston Herald calls attention to a somewhat remarkable mortality in the historic electoral commission of the presidential election of 1876. Vermonters will be especially interested in the editorial. The Herald says: The death of Gen. Eppa Hunton at Richmond, Va., leaves the venerable George F. Edmunds the sole survivor of the fifteen members of the electoral commission which decided the disputed presidential election of 1876. The commission was composed of five members of the supreme court: Clifford, Strong, Miller, Field, and Bradley; five senators: Edmunds, Morton, Frelinghuysen, Bayard, and Kerman—the latter taking the place of Thurman, who was disabled—and five representatives: Henry B. Payne, Eppa Hunton, Josiah G. Abbott, James A. Garfield and George F. Hoar. Considering the fact that this important event in our history occurred only as far back as 1877, the mortality among the participants has been unusual.—Rutland Herald.

FREE!

Are you getting yours? Last month we gave over 1750 lbs. of lard free to our customers that paid us cash for their meats, fresh Fish, Groceries, and Bakery Goods.

Better hire money and pay up the old bill and begin to pay cash for yours. We can buy our goods on a closer margin if we pay cash than we can on credit. We will give you the benefit.

WASHINGTON.

Body of Clark L. McEvers Brought Back for Burial.

The remains of Clark L. McEvers were brought to Washington and interred in the Nelson Taylor lot yesterday. Only a few weeks ago Mr. McEvers and his wife were visiting relatives here. He went from here to Council Bluffs and other places in western Iowa, returning with the body of Mrs. Taylor, his wife's mother, who had been buried some years ago, and attending to the reinterment in the family lot near. Soon after Mr. and Mrs. McEvers returned to their home at Hampstead, N. H., he was taken sick. It would seem that the disease, typhoid fever, was contracted during Mr. McEvers' visit at his mother's home in River Sioux, Iowa. A number of other cases have been developed there since his return.

The funeral service was held at Hampstead and then the body was brought to Washington, accompanied by Mrs. McEvers and Rev. Mr. Farnsworth, pastor of the Congregational church at Hampstead, who had officiated at the funeral, and who also briefly addressed the friends and relatives at the grave. Rev. Irving Towsey, pastor of the Universalist church in Washington, read the scripture and offered prayer.

Mr. McEvers was born at River Sioux, Iowa, and at his death was thirty-eight years of age. He held the esteem and love of all who knew him. His wife, who was Gertrude Taylor, survives him, as also his mother and one sister in Iowa.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

S. J. Segel & Co. wish to inform all their customers and the trade in general that they have no branch stores in Grapetown or East Barre, as was supposed by all. They did have a closing out sale in the above places during the summer season of the J. K. Lynde clothing stock, which they purchased early in the spring, and they are now located in the Scampini block, North Main street, in front of Granite street, where they are now prepared to serve the trade with a full line of men's and boys' wear, and will be pleased to sell all their old friends as well as many new ones. Remember our new location. Yours respectfully, S. J. Segel & Co., Samuel J. Segel, Harry A. Segel.

NOTES AND COMMENT ON LEGISLATURE

Senator F. M. Corry took a party of about 30, including a number of his fellow-senators on a trolley ride to Barre, Thursday afternoon where they visited the Burns monument, the library and other attractions in that city.

ly has as long a legislative record as any member of the House. He used to live in the town of Readsboro, Bennington county, and gets his mail there today but a short time ago he moved three miles from the village into the town of Whitingham, being about five miles from one of the villages of that town and nine from the other. However, by this short move of three miles he changed towns, counties and districts. He is now in Windham county and the second district instead of the first. Mr. Goodale represented Readsboro in the legislatures of 1880, '86, '92, '94. He was elected a senator from Bennington county in 1900, when the great Dillingham-Groat contest was on. He is now here as the representative from Whitingham.

E. R. Adams of Marlborough has a long legislative record. This is the fifth time he has represented his town in the legislature.

The events during ladies' week are now pretty well in line. Every morning, afternoon and evening of next week is taken up with receptions, meetings of societies or something of a social nature, except Saturday and Monday. Mrs. Prouty's reception on Tuesday evening in the governor's room is of a public nature, and in the receiving line will be the wives of past governors and lieutenant-governors. This will commence this year at 8:30 o'clock instead of 8 as in the past. On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Prouty and Mrs. Mead will give a tea at the Pavilion parlors from 3 to 6, to which the public is invited. On Wednesday afternoon from 1:30 to 2:30 will occur the exhibition drills by the Norwich cadets on the State House grounds. In the evening in Representatives' hall will occur the meeting of the United Daughters of the War of 1812. On Thursday evening will be the governor's ball in the armory. The concert program by Whittier's orchestra is an elaborate one and will commence at 8 o'clock. The grand march, led by Governor and Mrs. G. H. Prouty, will commence at 9 o'clock. Admission to the hall will be by card only, because of limited capacity. Between 1,000 and 1,200 invitations have been issued altogether. The Montpelier list being just about the same size as usual. On Thursday afternoon from 3 to 6, Mrs. J. B. Estee will give a reception to Mrs. Prouty, Mrs. Mead and the visiting ladies at her home on State street. On Friday afternoon Mrs. E. H. Deavitt and Mrs. Guy W. Bailey will hold a reception at the former's home on Elm street. The D. A. R. will hold their reception in the Wood Art gallery on Wednesday morning, and the meetings of the society will continue through the day.

The first semblance of a debate occurred on Thursday afternoon in the House. A few days ago Mr. Martin of Brookline presented a resolution providing for an examination into the telephone companies of the state, as to cost of construction, service, etc. It provided for taking of testimony and a typewriter and stenographer at state expense. This resolution was carried feebly after two expressions in an attempt to get the vote. On Thursday afternoon Speaker Cheney announced a resolution providing for an examination into the telephone companies of the state, as to cost of construction, service, etc. It provided for taking of testimony and a typewriter and stenographer at state expense. This resolution was carried feebly after two expressions in an attempt to get the vote. This resolution was carried feebly after two expressions in an attempt to get the vote.

A bill was presented in the House on Thursday afternoon of more than passing interest. It was by Mr. Goodhue of Westminister and was drawn up for the purpose of controlling the lobby. It provides that persons acting as agents or counsel must register at the sergeant-at-arms' office, giving name of employer, date of employment or agreement therefor and the special subjects of legislation to which the employment relates. The written authority to act must also be filed by the principals. Failure to comply with the provisions is punishable by a fine of not more than $1,000 or the subject may be disqualified from acting as agent for three years.

Resolutions were adopted in the Senate setting October 20 as the date for the election of United States Senators and October 21 as the date for the joint assembly with the House to vote for the same. There are two senators to be elected. Senator William P. Dillingham will be chosen to succeed himself and Carroll S. Page of Hyde Park will likely be chosen to succeed Senator J. W. Stewart who was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Redfield Proctor.

Bills were introduced Thursday afternoon in the Senate by Mr. Corry of Montpelier and in the House by Mr. Fish of Vergennes, appropriating $25,000 for the tercentennial celebration of the discovery of Lake Champlain. The bills authorize a committee of nine citizens of the state to co-operate with a similar committee created by the state of New York.

Mr. Hitchcock, in the House, introduced a bill for the prevention of forest fires. It provides that the governor may in the time of drought suspend the open season for hunting and make it a close season.

A majority of the 40 Democrats in the two houses held a caucus last evening in the supreme court room to decide whether or not they would present any candidate for United States senator in opposition to W. P. Dillingham and Carroll S. Page at the election to be held by the legislature next Tuesday. After considerable discussion it was voted to nominate V. A. Bullard of Burlington against W. P. Dillingham and Eliza May of St. Johnsbury against Carroll S. Page. Selection of the men to nominate these Democrats by the two houses will be made.

Fall Footwear!

This is just the time you need heavier-soled, stouter-built footwear. The light shoes are all very well and quite the proper thing for Summer—but now it's cool weather and it will soon be colder, and you should get a pair of our comfortable, stylish, wearable shoes, at something under what the same thing would cost you elsewhere.

OCTOBER TOGS!

We mean by "togs"—clothing. Of course you need some, but the point that troubles us is where you'll get it—isn't that so? The only thing we'll ask of you is, come in and let our salesman show you our stock, tell you the prices, and if you wish it, tell you the advantages of buying here. Isn't that a fair proposal?

SWEATER USE

Nothing better to wear without an overcoat on a cool day, and to wear under an overcoat on a cold day. So you see they're useful from now on through the winter. We've a complete line for men and boys in different qualities, colors and prices. A price to fit every purse.
